/ The delegation

The Australasian Railway Association (ARA) is hosting a delegation of its members and key stakeholders at InnoTrans this year.

The ARA will be taking a stand similar to Australia's presence in previous years, as well as hosting social events for those on the delegation.

Participation in the delegation and use of the general section of the stand will be complimentary for ARA members and key stakeholders in the delegation. There will be limited meeting rooms available, which delegates will be able to hire.

The ARA will be facilitating an engagement program at other exhibitors stands across the four days.

The ARA will also be hosting social events for the delegation, tickets for which can be purchased by attendees. Details for these events are being finalised.

/ Why you should participate

Benefits from participating in the high-profile Australian rail Industry delegation include:

- The use of the Australia Stand as a base for meetings and interactions with partners, customers and industry stakeholders,

- Invitations to networking events with senior rail sector participants,
- Engaging with Australian executives already experienced in global business while fast-tracking your skills development and exploring potential commercial opportunities, and
- The opportunity to visit international exhibitors stands arranged specifically for the delegation.

/ How to get involved

Please confirm your interest in taking part of this delegation via email to innotrans@ara.net.au.

You will then be added to the list of interested participants and we will contact you as further details are confirmed. We will not be advertising details more broadly, so you must register interest to hear more about the ARA delegation to InnoTrans.

Please register promptly, as we may be required to limit the size of the delegation due to capacity constraints.

/ Travel and access to InnoTrans

Those on the delegation will be responsible for booking and paying their own airfares and accommodation, meals and transfers.

Delegates will also need to purchase their own tickets to InnoTrans. The ARA will be able to provide a discount code for tickets for those on the delegation.
